Learn about the impact of high mouse numbers on crops in spring and how to monitor and manage them in established crops.

Moderate mouse numbers can cause significant damage in spring, depending on the crop stage.

Mice can chew stems, nodes and pods and drop seed heads. Damage may not be noticed without monitoring.

Learn about the impact of high mouse numbers on crops in spring and how to monitor them in established crops from Animal Control Technologies Prof. Linton Staples.

When: Monday 7 August 2017. 2pm.

Where: North West Ag, 156 Lascelles Street. Hopetoun.

Afternoon tea supplied by Agriculture Victoria.

Best Practice Vaccination Technique

In accordance with the registered product label, vaccine should only be administered under the skin (subcutaneously). However, a recent study conducted by Zoetis has revealed that even experienced sheep producers may be unintentionally administering vaccines into muscle, or hitting other structures such as bone, on a regular basis.

Zoetis have released an article discussing the use of 1/4" needles for use with Gudair, but this is also relevant for other vaccines. Speak to your North West Ag store for a full copy of the article and all your livestock vaccinating requirements.

Croplands NEW catalogue

To celebrate their 45th birthday Croplands have released a new catalogue full of specials just in time for the spring spraying season. Pick up a copy from the counter next time you visit your local North West Ag store.
